MORGAN COUNTY RIGHT TO FARM POLICY

Morgan County is one of the most productive agricultural counties in Colorado. Ranching, farming, animal feeding, and all agricultural activities and operations in Morgan County are integral and necessary elements of the continued vitality of the County's economy, culture, landscape, and lifestyle. Over 70% of the County's acreage is devoted to farming and raising livestock with over 700 farms. The agricultural products produced by those farms create millions of dollars of market value. Morgan County recognizes the importance of agricultural operations as necessary and worthy of recognition and protection and supports policies to maintain the high-quality rural character of the County.

Living in Morgan County requires residents to accept the effects of agriculture and rural living as part of daily life. Agricultural users of the land are not expected to change their long-established agricultural practices to accommodate the intrusions of residential activities into a rural area. These effects may include noise from tractors, equipment, and aerial spraying at any time; dust from animal pens, field work, harvesting, and use of gravel roads; odor from confinement animal feeding operations, silage and manure; smoke from ditch burning; flies and mosquitoes; the use of pesticides and fertilizers; and movement of livestock or machinery on public roads. Under Colorado law, these activities are not considered nuisances and are protected.

Residents must also accept that public services in rural areas are different than urban or suburban areas. Specifically, regular road maintenance may be less available and may be at a lower level. In certain circumstances, the standard for maintenance may be determined on whether the road is passable and usable and not whether the road surface is rough. County gravel roads, no matter how often they are maintained, will not provide the same kind of surface expected from a paved road and will not support travel at the recommended speed. Further, the County may permit certain road maintenance activities by agricultural producers or other industries to allow those commercial activities to continue when County resources are unavailable due to other road issues or events. The County considers these activities to be integral to the protection of agricultural operations in Morgan County.

In addition, in Morgan County, utility services may be nonexistent or subject to interruption; law enforcement, fire protection and ambulance service will have considerably longer response times; and snow may not be removed from County roads for several days after a major snowstorm. The County prioritizes snow removal as it deems necessary.

People are exposed to different hazards in a rural setting than they are in an urban or suburban area. Farms, ponds, irrigation ditches, electrical service to pumps and oil field equipment and operations, noxious weeds, livestock, and territorial animals may present real threats to people. It is necessary that all activities are supervised for both the protection of the people and protection of agricultural activities and owners may need to fence property to ensure a safe environment.

All County residents are encouraged to learn about their rights and responsibilities and to act as good neighbors and citizens of Morgan County. This includes but is not limited to obligations under Colorado State law, including but not limited to, the Colorado Fence and Right to Farm laws, and Morgan County Zoning Regulations regarding maintenance of fences, controlling weeds, and keeping animals under control. Residents are responsible for understanding and accepting the implications of living in a rural agricultural area.

Information regarding these topics may be obtained from the Morgan County Extension Office and Planning and Zoning Department.

RECEIPT AND STATEMENT OF UNDERSTANDING

I hereby certify that I have read and understood the Morgan County Right to Farm Policy. I further state that I am aware and acknowledge that the conditions of living in a rural area, primarily used for agricultural production, and that I understand these activities are protected under Colorado law and are not considered a nuisance.

LOCATING MINERAL RIGHTS OWNERS

Determining mineral rights owners involves examining ownership records and deeds. To find who owns the mineral rights under your land, consider the following options:

- ☐ Research the ownership on your own through the Assessor's Office and Clerk and Recorder's Office.
- ☐ Contact a law office or a title company to perform the research for you.

Researching On Your Own

The process for determining who owns the mineral rights for a particular property is difficult and often time consuming. Sometimes, the title information from the closing of a home sale will include information regarding ownership of the mineral rights, but that information may not always be accurate and should be confirmed.

One place to start researching mineral rights ownership is the deed to the land. The Recording Department in the Clerk & Recorder's Office archives copies of property deeds and you can search for deeds in the grantor/grantee index at their office or on the public computer available at the Clerk & Recorder's Office. The deed should indicate what type of ownership was conveyed at the time of sale/transfer of ownership. Research the names and percent (%) of interest for all mineral owners for the subject property. Only mineral owners who have recorded a request for written notification of all applications for development need to be provided the written notice described C.R.S. § 24-65.5-103(1).

The County Assessor's records must also be reviewed by the legal description. The Assessor does not provide a public computer, and the search must be performed on their website at <https://morgancountyco-assessor.tylerhost.net/assessor/web/>.

Ownership rights are complicated, and it is advised that you consult an attorney or other property expert to research mineral ownership before you take any action regarding your rights.

CERTIFICATION OF NOTIFICATION OF MINERAL ESTATE OWNER

The applicant must check one of the three following statements, sign and date the form, and attach a list of mineral owners and lessees to whom notice was sent (if applicable).

I/We, _____

MINERAL RIGHTS NOTICE REQUIREMENTS

Pursuant to Colorado Revised Statutes (C.R.S) 24-65.5-103(1), Applicants for development are required to notify all owners and lessees that hold a mineral interest on the subject property, of a pending application for proposed development.

What Are Mineral Rights?

Mineral rights are ownership rights that allow the owner the right to exploit minerals from underneath a property. The rights refer to solid and liquid minerals, such as silver, gold, copper, salt, clay, oil, natural gas, sand and gravel or any other material below the surface. Mineral rights can be separate from surface rights and are not always possessed by the property owner.

Mineral Rights Lessee

A mineral rights' lessee is a person who has entered into a lease with the mineral rights owner to explore for, develop, and produce the leased minerals.

How can I find the mineral rights owner?

State law requires that an applicant examine the records in the county tax assessor and clerk and recorder of the county in which the real property is located.

At your option, you may also hire a third party (attorney, title company) to review these records or the title to the property.

How do I notify the mineral rights owners?

State law requires that notice of the hearing be provided to the mineral owners and lessees by certified mail, return receipt requested, or by a nationally recognized overnight courier, no later than 30 days prior to the initial hearing date. For applications that do not require a hearing, notice should include the proposed date a decision will be made by the Planning and Zoning Department.

The notice must contain the date, time and place of the hearing, the nature of the hearing, the location and legal description by section, township, range of the property that is the subject of the hearing, and the name of the applicant. COPY OF LETTER AND RECEIPT OF IT BEING DELIVERED SHALL BE PROVIDED TO THE MORGAN COUNTY PLANNING AND ZONING DEPARTMENT WITHIN 14 DAYS OF PLANNING COMMISSION HEARING OR DATE OF DECISION BY PLANNING DIRECTOR AND SHALL INCLUDE THE NAMES AND ADDRESSES OF MINERAL OWNERS AND LESSEES.

ALL APPLICANTS MUST SIGN THE MINERAL RIGHTS CERTIFICATION.
